

Kenya – List of assessed projects

As part of its research, the Gender Financing Project assessed the availability and quality of 25 key gender equality projects for Kenya. Taking the OECD Creditor Reporting System data for 2018 as a starting point (which at the time of research was last updated in May 2020), we identified five donors with the highest self-reported disbursing projects for Kenya in 2018 with a significant (1) or principal (2) gender equality policy marker score: the US Agency for International Development (USAID), the UK's Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office (FCDO, formerly DFID), the Swedish International Development Authority (Sida), and the German Ministry for Economic Cooperation. We then identified these donors' five highest-disbursing gender equality projects.

Below is an overview of all 25 assessed projects, organized from highest to lowest disbursements. To give a sense of the purpose of each project and to what extent it focuses on improving gender equality, we have included the sector(s) which the donors have indicated the project intends to target (using the 'SectorName' field) and the gender scores (using the 'Gender' field) as reported to the OECD. Please find hyperlinks for projects where more (up-to-date) information is available on IATI or donors' own portal.
